

Early Head Start Program Evaluation Opportunity

Help Families Understand More About their Children's Development

The Learn the Signs. Act Early. campaign has free milestone checklists and other resources that can help parents and providers monitor children's development between screenings. All of the materials are evidence-based and tested to be family-friendly.

Add Learn the Signs. Act Early. materials for Early Head Start families

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) wants to find out how best to incorporate ongoing developmental monitoring using Learn the Signs. Act Early. materials and resources into Early Head Start (EHS) programs and to learn what happens as a result. Here's where you come in!

Impact of adding developmental monitoring: We are seeking programs who would like to add developmental monitoring using Learn the Signs. Act Early. materials as a complement to ongoing activities.

This could include:

- Staff complete a free 1 hour online training module (with 1 CEU)
- Programs share Learn the Signs. Act Early. materials with families and talk about milestones children achieve
- Staff and parents provide feedback to help us determine the effectiveness of using these resources
- Programs can access follow up assistance on using resources, as needed
